About Gay and Lesbian Health Victoria

Gay and Lesbian Health Victoria is situated in The Australian Research Centre in Sex, Health and Society at La Trobe University. The role of the Unit is to enhance and promote the health and well being of gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender and intersex (GLBTI) people in Victoria. This is achieved through training, developing health resources, maintaining a research and information clearinghouse and by providing advice to Government on the planning and development of future GLBTI programs.

About the GLBTI inclusive practice audit tool

Gay and Lesbian Health Victoria has developed this GLBTI-inclusive practice audit to assist services to check how inclusive their service is of GLBTI consumers. The audit checks organisational performance against the National Standards for GLBTI-inclusive practice. The standards have been informed by: Well Proud: A guide to gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender and intersex inclusive practice for health and human services, produced by the Ministerial Advisory Committee on Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual, Transgender and Intersex Health and Wellbeing (2009). The audit tool can be used to identify achievements and to determine where improvements are required. The audit comprises the following standards:

1. Organisational capability
2. GLBTI cultural safety
3. Professional development
4. Consumer consultation and participation
5. Disclosure and documentation
6. Access and intake processes.

Relating to these standards there are 23 indicators which are presented in question format. For each question you are invited to rate how well your service (or organisation) is doing using the following ratings:

unmet (score 0 points)

partly met (score 2 points)

met (score 4 points).

The total points are tallied, with a higher score suggesting a more GLBTI inclusive service. A score of 92 is the highest score possible. Each time you rate an indicator as met or partly met it is important that you list the evidence to substantiate the rating. Checking the evidence sometimes helps organisations identify that they have no evidence to substantiate their rating. Likewise, if you rated an indicator as unmet or partly met it may be useful to list some actions for improvement.

Some services repeat the audit to monitor improvements in their service. Others have invited a range of staff and consumers to complete an audit to generate discussion about differing perspectives and the need for change.

To compliment the audit, Gay and Lesbian Health Victoria have developed a training program for health and human services. If you would like more information about the training we provide, or more information about this audit please contact us.
